I was born in rural Western NC surrounded by the Pisgah National Forest; the family homestead is now designated private forest conservation land. I've been a member of Sierra Club, National Wildlife Federation, Audubon and like organizations for half a century and have participated in community and college programs to initiate recycling, ban DDT and other dangerous chemicals, protect unique natural reserves and walk gently on the earth. My first career was in early childhood education and the exploration and care of the natural environment was always a core program.

I spent more than a decade working within corporate America and am aware of the balance between good stewardship, regulation, and the corporate P&L. From 2009 to 2013, I was honored to be aide to Councilwoman Bensoussan. During this time Chula Vista was a leading GREEN city with involvement in ICLEI and development of the bayfront EIR. In 1990, I moved to Chula Vista and spent the decade living on my boat and volunteering with the US Coast Guard Auxiliary, US Power Squadron, SD Tall Ship Society and Chula Vista Yacht Club.

Now retired, I have time to follow my passions: nature, maritime and education.
