My husband and I own a residential property on Ridgewater Drive. We have resided here for over 15 years. We enjoy the view to the canyon and how wildlife is free to roam around. There are coyotes, rabbits and beautiful birds. However, it has come to our attention the intention from the city to build another storage facility within a mile radius and right behind our backyards. Having such project built in that location will impact not only traffic but the safety of the community. Our backyards and bedroom windows face the canyon. The privacy of our homes will be lost thus adding opportunity for more crime. As it is, with the lack of police support on the Eastside of Chula Vista, neighbors complain on a daily basis of packages being stolen, cars and homes being broken into. As a responsible parent, I am concerned for the safety of our own children and the community children. There is an elementary school within walking distance. Having a storage facility can increase the traffic of non-community members and others lurking for trouble and opportunity. Again, as a concerned citizen and family person, I implore you to reconsider the option of relocating this storage facility to another location away from a neighborhood community.

- 1, What is the projected square footage of pervious and impervious surface over the proposed project site and what are the steps that would be taken to restore the equivalent square footage of natural habitat?
- 2, How would any of the city council members feel if they had a shipping unit placed directly in their back yard?
- 3, Was the initial vision for this housing development by the city always intended to include a storage facility or any other commercial building directly in the back yards of residents? Or has the city strayed away from its marketed vision for their initial development?
